The Course

Discover the skills, tools and techniques you'll need to become a successful forecasting astrologer. Learn your craft with international astrologer Frank Clifford of The London School of Astrology.

In this unique, self-contained course, Frank will:

- Guide you through some of the most important and accurate predictive systems
- Consider key life stages/events (from job changes to marriage, money and travel)
- Offer you simple ways to construct clear and useful interpretations
- Work with case studies from his client files, famous people and course students

Along the way, you'll be introduced to many helpful tips and considerations gathered by Frank during his 25 years as a consulting astrologer. All are welcome but some understanding of the signs, planets and houses will be assumed.

Also included in the syllabus: The philosophy of forecasting; the most reliable modern and traditional methods (including transits, directions, lunar phases, returns); many case studies; combining techniques; learning to articulate interpretations ethically. Students will also be sent various articles written by Frank and other astrologers.

The Structure

There are 16 one-hour, pre-recorded lessons and up to 8 hours of live Q&A with Frank.

Each week, up to two pre-recorded (video and sound) classes will be uploaded for you to access and, during the course, there will also be four live, 2-hour Q&A sessions with Frank to choose from – these have been set at different times to allow students from the USA, Europe and Australia to attend. These Q&A sessions will be recorded, too, if students are unable to attend live. (See the schedule below.)

During your time studying with us, Frank will be in touch regularly with you and you'll be encouraged to submit questions (about the course content and your own chart) during the course dates. Most of these will be answered in the Q&A sessions.

All class links/recordings will remain open to students until the certificate exam deadline on 20 May 2018.

Principles of Forecasting: Our Approach

Astrological forecasting is about dialoguing with the client to help them become attuned to the planetary cycles and rhythms of their lives. It is usually less to do with 'predicting' an actual event and more to do with encouraging a client's 'active participation' in their own personal and professional development. In other words, rather than trying to predict what will happen, we can do our best work by articulating the processes taking place in our client's life and helping them to become aware of these. Then, the client can co-create their future with the help of the planetary season. Ultimately, astrological techniques are never as important as the client themselves – we as astrologers must endeavour to tune into their needs, their context and their reality.

Your Tutor: Frank Clifford

Frank has written a dozen books on astrology and palmistry, guest edited The Mountain Astrologer many times, and given over 1000 talks, lectures and seminars in over a dozen countries to students, companies, banks and universities. He began running the London School of Astrology in 2004 and has since brought a new generation to the subject. His books have been translated into ten languages and Frank publishes books by other authors through the LSA and his company Flare Publications. In 2012, Frank won a lifetime achievement honour (The Charles Harvey Award) for his contribution to astrology, and ISAR honoured him with a writing award in 2016. A Regulus Award nomination for Professional Image followed at UAC 2018.

Homework, Assignments and the LSA Certificate in Forecasting

There are four main assignments. Assignments are optional, marked by Frank and the LSA, and included in the price of the course. Those of you who pass all four assignments set by the LSA will receive a Certificate in Forecasting from The London School of Astrology.

Assignment 1: A question about a specific transit in your own chart

Assignment 2: A question about a specific Solar Arc direction in your own chart

Assignment 3: One main case study

Assignment 4: A series of practical case studies that require short answers

At a couple of stages in the course, you will be given advice on how to complete these questions. We shall encourage you to start the assignments while participating in the course and you will have three further weeks after the final Q&A to finish the assignments.

The official deadline to submit everything is 20 May 2018.

There will be some additional homework and reading set for you to complete in your own time – this will not be marked, but it will be an opportunity for you to study your own chart as you progress through the course.
